On April 21, 2003, HEI issued the following news release:

HAWAIIAN ELECTRIC INDUSTRIES, INC. REPORTS FIRST QUARTER 2003 EARNINGS

HONOLULU Hawaiian Electric Industries, Inc. (NYSE HE) today reported net income for the three months ended March 31, 2003, of $24.3 million, or 66 cents per share, compared with $26.9 million, or 75 cents per share, in the same quarter of 2002. Net income was down 9% for the quarter due to lower utility net income that was partially offset by a 1.2% increase in bank net income. We had a strong first quarter considering the expected increases in retirement benefits costs and the impact of the uncertainties surrounding the war in Iraq on the Hawaii economy, said Robert F. Clarke, HEI chairman, president and chief executive officer. HEI has previously announced that it expected a $16 million increase in retirement benefits expense, net of tax benefits, in 2003 compared to 2002.

Electric utility net income for the first quarter was $17.7 million compared to $20.4 million for the same quarter last year primarily due to higher retirement benefits expense and depreciation expense. These increased expenses were partially offset by higher kilowatthour sales. Increases in residential usage and the number of residential customers as a result of a strong real estate market in Hawaii helped to boost kilowatthour sales by 2.5% for the quarter, said Clarke. Going forward, the full impact of the conflict with Iraq on the Hawaii tourism industry and the Company's kilowatthour sales growth is still unknown.

Bank net income in the first quarter was $13.5 million compared to $13.4 million in the same quarter last year. The increase in net income was primarily due to a lower provision for loan losses and slightly higher net interest and other income. The increase was partially offset by writedowns of mortgage servicing rights and higher general and administrative expenses as a result of the bank's continued implementation of its strategic transformation from a retail thrift to a full-service community bank.

During the first quarter, the bank continued to see loan asset quality and delinquencies improve resulting in a lower provision for loan losses, said Clarke. However, the low interest rate environment continued to put pressure on the interest rate spread. The interest rate spread was lower at 3.14% in the recent quarter versus 3.27% for the same period in 2002.

HEI will hold its annual shareholders' meeting tomorrow at 9:30 a.m., in Honolulu, Hawaii to elect four Class I directors and the Company's independent auditor, as well as to consider approval of proposed amendments to its 1987 Stock Option and Incentive Plan.

HEI is the largest Hawaii-based company, providing electric utility services to approximately 95% of Hawaii's residents and a wide array of banking services to consumers and businesses through the state's third largest bank.
