RE: The Taiwan Fund, Inc.

Dear Mr. Rogers,

City of London Investment Management Company Limited (“City of London”), on behalf of its clients, invests in The Taiwan Fund, Inc. (“the Fund”) and owned approximately 29.8% of the shares outstanding at the time of its last public disclosure. This letter was prompted by the Fund’s press release issued on July 17th, 2014, which announced three items: the selection of a new investment manager; the change to majority voting, and; the new Discount Management Policy.

As previously stated in our public letter of April 29th, City of London has no confidence in the current Board of Directors of the Fund and its advisors. Simply stated, we do not see that a mechanism exists for shareholders to hold the Board accountable for its actions. Until the Board provides shareholders with more details about the change to majority voting and the new Discount Management Policy, we believe there are significant unanswered questions as outlined below.

“Majority Voting for Directors”

First, under the headline that appears above, the press release announced that the Board approved an amendment to the Fund’s By-Laws providing for the election of Directors by a majority of votes cast by stockholders, replacing the longstanding plurality vote provision. This is a welcome step, but is there any explicit assurance that a Director who receives less than half of the votes cast would resign, and that the resignation would then be accepted by the Board?

As outlined by the Council of Institutional Investors in its public letter sent to the SEC on July 8, 2014, addressing the ‘zombie director’ phenomenon, we would expect that a losing Director would immediately tender his or her resignation and that the Board would accept the resignation. Absent an explicit statement to the contrary, we suspect the Board might refuse to accept the resignation and allow the Director to remain on the Board. While this tactic may be permissible, the legal standard is only the minimum standard, and this Board seems to have consistently been advised to aim only for the minimum standard in the past.

‘Transparency’ is a key tenet of the corporate democratic process, and as such we cannot understand why the results of Director elections are not immediately announced. The Fund’s stockholders voted on May 14, 2014, and we very strongly believe that the results of that process should be made public within a matter of days (or even hours). To the extent that a Director failed to obtain a majority of the votes cast (excluding broker votes, obviously), that Director should resign and the resignation should be accepted. We expect this policy would come into effect immediately and that the results of the May 14th meeting would be subject to this standard of review. We believe this is the only way that Directors will focus on their duty to the owners of the company.

“Discount Management Policy”

The second point we would make is that the Board announced a Discount Management Policy (“DMP”) without explicit parameters or targets. (This item appeared in the Fund’s July 17th announcement under the headline that appears above.) Given our lack of confidence in the Board and its advisors, is the DMP potentially an empty promise? Has the Board developed parameters and targets for discount management? Will shareholders possess a reasonable expectation of the Board’s intentions, and have a means to measure the Board versus those parameters and targets?

Based on our experience as investors in the Fund over many years, we have no confidence in the current Board as a result of many factors. The investment manager changes orchestrated by the Board have destabilized the Fund. The investment performance from a net asset value perspective is weak year-to-date (lagging its index by -7.53% through August 20th according to Bloomberg). The questions we raised above point to substantial weaknesses in corporate governance. We believe that the Fund’s position in the marketplace, and thus its discount, is a reflection of the sum of its characteristics. We respectfully ask the Board to provide all shareholders with answers to the questions posed above.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Bannister
Director, Corporate Governance
