This Report includes forward-looking statements related to theglobe.com, inc. that involve risks and uncertainties, including statements relating to our ability to raise additional capital and, to the extent demand is made therefore, to repay the promissory notes described below, and the planned amendment of our authorized common stock at our next annual meeting. #### Convertible Note Financing

As previously reported on Form 8-K, on May 29, 2007, Dancing Bear Investments, Inc. (the “Noteholder”) entered into a Note Purchase Agreement with the Company pursuant to which it acquired a convertible promissory note (the “Convertible Note”) in the aggregate principal amount of $250,000, together with an option to acquire an additional $2,750,000 of Convertible Notes on or before November 25, 2007 (the “Option”). The Convertible Notes are convertible at anytime prior to payment into shares of the Company’s common stock at the rate of $.01 per share. As also previously reported on Form 8-K, on June 25, 2007, the Noteholder exercised a portion of the Option and acquired an additional Convertible Note in the principal amount of $250,000, and as also previously reported on Form 10-Q, on July 19, 2007, the Noteholder exercised a portion of the Option and acquired an additional Convertible Note in the principal amount of $500,000. The Noteholder is controlled by our Chairman, Michael Egan.

On September 6, 2007, the Noteholder exercised a portion of the Option and acquired an additional Convertible Note in the principal amount of $250,000. The $250,000 Convertible Note is convertible (without regard to potential anti-dilutive adjustments resulting from stock splits and the like) into 25,000,000 shares of our common stock.

The Convertible Notes are due 5 days after demand from the holder, and are secured by a pledge of all of the assets of the Company and its subsidiaries, subordinate to existing liens on such assets. The Convertible Notes bear interest at the rate of ten (10%) percent per annum. The Noteholder is entitled to certain demand and piggy-back registration rights in connection with its investment. The Convertible Notes were not registered under applicable securities laws and were sold in reliance on an exemption from such registration. The Noteholder is an “accredited investor” and the Company believes that the issuance and sale of the Convertible Notes qualified for exemption from registration pursuant to Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933.

The Company intends to use the proceeds from the sale of the Convertible Notes for general working capital. The proceeds from the $250,000 Convertible Note are intended to provide the Company with temporary liquidity to conduct its business while it seeks to raise additional capital or the Noteholder elects to acquire additional Convertible Notes pursuant to the Option.

Absent additional financing, in the event demand is made for repayment of the Convertible Notes, the Company will not have the resources to repay the Convertible Notes. Similarly, we would not have the resources to pay the $3.4 million of outstanding demand convertible notes which were issued in 2005. Inasmuch as substantially all of the assets of the Company and its subsidiaries secure the Convertible Notes and the 2005 convertible notes, in connection with any resulting proceeding to collect the indebtedness relating to the Convertible Notes, the Noteholders (subject to the prior rights of the 2005 convertible noteholders) could seize and sell the assets of the Company and its subsidiaries. Any or all of the foregoing would have a material adverse effect on the Company and its operations.
