American Israeli Paper Mills Ltd.
Conversion to Natural Gas

Hadera, Israel, August 27, 2007 American Israeli Paper Mills Ltd. (AMEX:AIP) (the Company or AIPM ), announce that upon completion of the connection of the Company's site in Hadera to the natural gas flow system, the Company began to convert the existing co-generation system in the site to the use of natural gas. Natural gas will gradually replace the use of fuel oil in the following months in the paper manufacturing process.

The natural gas will be supplied by the Yam Tethys partnership until mid 2011. As previously reported, the Company signed an agreement in principle with the Egyptian company EMG for an additional period of 15 years, commencing in 2011.

The Company invested approximately NIS 30 million in the conversion to natural gas in infrastructure and conversion of the existing equipment.

The transition to natural gas is expected, upon completion, to further improve the quality of air emissions and to bring annual savings of approximately NIS 45 million in the fuel costs of the Group's companies (including associated companies).

The Company estimates that at current fuel oil and gas price levels, and with the full operation of the co-generation system with natural gas, the affect on its annual net profit will total approximately NIS 25 million.

This report regarding the affect of the conversion to natural gas contains various forward-looking information as defined in the Israeli securities Law, based upon Company's estimations. These estimations might not be fully or partially realized, or might be realized differently from the current estimations, as a result of a variety of factors, including factors outside the control of the Company, such as gas suppliers, natural gas transporter to the Company's site in Hadera, and changes in fuel oil price level.
