Camtek Intends to Aggressively Defend Against New Rudolph Patent Lawsuit

MIGDAL HAEMEK, Israel – March 16, 2015 – Camtek Ltd. (NASDAQ: CAMT and TASE: CAMT), today reported that on March 12, 2015 as part of its recurring attempts to stop Camtek's activities in the United States, Rudolph Technologies Inc. filed a new patent infringement case in the U.S. District Court in Minnesota against Camtek. According to which, Rudolph claims that Camtek's Eagle system infringes Rudolph's patent No. 6.826.298 ("the 6.298 patent"). Camtek has not yet been served with a complaint in this lawsuit.

Camtek strongly believes that its Eagle system does not infringe the 6.298 patent and intends to aggressively defend itself from the allegations in this claim. The company believes that this complaint proves again that Rudolph is aware of the superiority of Camtek's products including the Eagle and has chosen to shift the commercial competition to the legal arena.
