Item 7.01 Regulation FD

On May 15, 2017, PRA Group, Inc. (the “Company”) issued a press release, a copy of which is furnished as Exhibit 99.1 to this report and incorporated herein by reference.

None of the information furnished in this Item 7.01 shall be deemed to be “filed” for purposes of Section 18 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, or otherwise subject to the liability of that Section. Unless expressly set forth by specific reference in such filings, none of the information furnished in this report shall be incorporated by reference in any filing under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, whether made before or after the date hereof and regardless of any general incorporation language in such filings.

Item 8.01 Other Information

As previously disclosed by the Company, the Company received Notices of Deficiencies from the Internal Revenue Service (the “IRS”) for tax years ended December 31, 2005 through December 31, 2012 related to the Company’s method of accounting for determining gross income from the collection of finance receivables (“revenues”) for tax purposes. On May 10, 2017, the Company agreed with the IRS to settle the matters set forth in the Notices of Deficiencies. As part of the Company’s settlement with the IRS, the Company and the IRS entered into a Stipulation of Settled Issues on May 10, 2017 (the “Stipulation”). Under the terms of the Stipulation, which remains subject to U.S. Tax Court approval, the Company (a) will change its method of accounting for revenue for tax purposes to a pro-rata method from its current cost recovery method effective January 1, 2017, (b) will not pay any interest or penalties related to the tax periods covered by the Notices of Deficiencies or subsequent periods related to its accounting method and (c) will include any additional revenues resulting from timing differences under the new accounting method ratably in revenues for tax purposes over the four year period beginning January 1, 2017 with no associated interest.
