Commission File No. 001-8444

Dear [Salutation Name],

We live in a time where elected officials don't always agree on a lot. One thing many of them do agree on, however, is that the merger of American Airlines and US Airways is a winning combination for consumers, employees, and communities.

Since our historic merger announcement, the leadership teams of both American Airlines and US Airways have been meeting with our respective stakeholders to discuss the compelling benefits of the combination. We are pleased to have such a broad range of enthusiastic support for the merger from elected officials and leading civic organizations, who are weighing in with their representatives in Washington on why they think this merger makes such great sense. For example, the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Antitrust, Competition Policy and Consumer Rights has received over 85 letters and statements from elected officials, community leaders and organizations in 13 states echoing the broad support for the merger.

Below is a selection of quotes from some of these letters, reflecting the breadth and diversity of support for the merger. A full list of the statements of support is available on the joint website: www.newAmericanarriving.com.

Governor Rick Perry Texas: No matter which way you look at it, this is the right move for Texas and for our nation. In terms of cost and convenience, consumers will benefit from the addition of a more competitive international carrier to the market. And improvements in service will not come at the expense of airline employees. The unions for both airlines support this merger because they understand the importance of working for an efficient, robust company positioned for sustained success. (March 19, 2013)

Mayor Greg Stanton and Mayor Mark Mitchell Phoenix, AZ and Tempe, AZ: Having a primary western regional hub of the world's largest airline and the jobs that go along with that hub will grow our Valley economy, and give Phoenix and Tempe increased access to business opportunities and tourists worldwide. We are pleased to be in such a position to work with the new merged airline to retain and expand those US Airways jobs currently in our region. (March 15, 2013)

Governor Mary Fallin Oklahoma: I am encouraged to learn that labor unions, throughout the ranks of both organizations, have endorsed this merger, believing it will result in a stronger, more stable company and increase employment opportunities for years to come for their members... This merger is a smart business move that will reward consumers, the nation's economy, and the state of Oklahoma for years to come. (March 6, 2013)

Mayor Anthony Foxx Charlotte, NC: By finalizing this merger, US Airways and American Airlines will generate many new job opportunities for local families and create additional economic activity to fuel our region. Just as important, the merger would strengthen the 7,100 company employees that will act as the foundation of Charlotte's international gateway. This is evidenced by the impressive level of union support for the merger. (March 15, 2013)

Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa Los Angeles, CA: Los Angeles and the airline industry both benefit enormously from being a major point of entry for domestic and international visitors alike. The American/US Airways merger will provide the region with a stronger, more stable base of service while strengthening competition amongst carriers. (March 18, 2013)

Mayor Betsy Price Fort Worth, TX: The new American Airlines will create a stronger, more competitive airline that benefits consumers, employees and our local communities. Through the joining of these two iconic brands, American Airlines and US Airways, there will emerge a highly competitive global carrier that will provide up to 1,300 new routes. (March 14, 2013)

Greater Miami Convention and Visitors Bureau Florida: For the past several years we have experienced record growth in travel and tourism to Miami due in large part to AA's expansion and commitment to our community. They are more than just an airline... they have been a true corporate and civic partner... We expect that growth to continue which will result in increased economic and job growth in hospitality, the top industry in Greater Miami. (March 15, 2013)

Illinois Manufacturer's Association Illinois: We believe the proposed merger would strengthen American's position at the [O'Hare] airport. The newly combined airline system will offer over 6,700 daily flights to 336 destinations in 56 countries around the world which will expand the network of flights and offer increased service to new cities from Chicago. (March 15, 2013)

Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce Philadelphia, PA: PHL is the Greater Philadelphia region's economic engine, and its long-term viability is essential to our ability to continue growing in the future. By satisfying Philadelphia's longstanding desire for more international travel opportunities, this merger would offer an unprecedented chance for the region to play a greater role in the global marketplace. (March 15, 2013)

As always, we are committed to keeping you informed throughout this process as we work to build the world's greatest airline.
