Recent Developments:

The company's common stock currently trades on the Over The Counter Bulletin Board (OTCBB), under the symbol ESEAF.OB. The company completed a private placement to a number of institutional and accredited investors on August 25, 2005 and raised approximately $21 million in gross proceeds. The company completed its merger with Cove Apparel Inc. on March 27, 2006 (the Merger). Pursuant to the Merger, Cove Apparel's securities were converted into securities of Euroseas, were de-listed and no longer trade. Euroseas has also applied to have its common stock listed on the NASDAQ National Market, and expects to commence trading there as soon as it qualifies for such listing.

On May 12, 2006, the company announced the declaration of its third consecutive dividend, a dividend of $0.06 per common share payable on June 16, 2006 to all shareholders of record as of June 02, 2006. This follows the company's dividend declarations of $0.06 per common share on February 7, 2006 and of $0.07 per share on November 2, 2005.

Within the first quarter of 2006 Euroseas continued its fleet development strategy by entering into agreements to sell two of its older Handysize bulk carriers and acquiring its first Handysize multipurpose vessel.

Specifically, on March 20, 2006, Euroseas entered into an agreement to sell M/V John P a Handysize bulk carrier of 26,354 dwt built in 1981 for $4.95 million, which is to be delivered to the buyers in late June/early July 2006. Additionally, on April 11, 2006, Euroseas signed a memorandum of agreement to sell M/V Pantelis P, a Handysize bulk carrier of 26,354 dwt built in 1981, which is to be delivered to the buyers between May 15 and June 30, 2006 at Euroseas' option. Furthermore, on April 27, 2006, Euroseas acquired and took delivery of the M/V Tasman Trader, a Handysize multipurpose dry cargo vessel of 22,568 dwt and 950 twenty-foot equivalent units built in 1990 capable of transporting bulk commodities and/or containers. The M/V Tasman Trader was acquired with a period charter attached until December 2008 at a rate of $8,850 per day. Thereafter, Euroseas has arranged an extension with the same charterer for a further 24 months, ending December 2010, at $9,500 per day. After that 24 month period, Euroseas has arranged for a further extension for 15 months, ending March 2012, at $9,000 per day. Earlier, in November 2005, Euroseas had acquired the containership M/V Artemis, built in 1987 with a 2,098 teu and 29,693 dwt capacity, which is employed under a time charter terminating in December 2008 at the rate of $19,000 per day.

Once all vessel deliveries are completed, Euroseas will ultimately have a fleet of seven vessels, including one Panamax drybulk carrier, two Handysize drybulk carriers, three Handysize containerships and a Handysize multipurpose dry cargo vessel. Euroseas three drybulk carrier vessels have a total cargo capacity of 138,196 deadweight tons (dwt), its three containerships have a cargo capacity of 66,100 dwt and 4,636 teu and its one multipurpose vessel has a cargo capacity of 22,568 dwt and 950 teu.

Aristidis Pittas, Chairman and CEO of Euroseas commented: In the first quarter of 2006 we continued our fleet development consistent with our strategy to focus on age and size segments which we believe can maximize our return on equity. The addition of our first multipurpose vessel to our fleet, the M/V Tasman Trader enables us to increase the flexibility and versatility of our fleet and allows us to enter into this niche market that is a hybrid between pure bulk and container vessels and where other opportunities may arise in the future. Furthermore, consistent with our fleet deployment strategy of seeking profitable long-term employment, the M/V Tasman Trader came with a time charter that expires in 2012, thereby enabling us to generate stable and predictable cash flows securing our earnings and shareholder return.

Also, we believe that the proceeds from the sale of the M/V Pantelis P, the sale of M/V John P and the cash available from the private placement we completed in August 2005, coupled with the use of standard leverage, place us in a strong position to continue taking advantage of market opportunities, as these may occur in 2006.

Tasos Aslidis, Chief Financial Officer of Euroseas commented: The results of the first quarter of 2006 reflect lower revenues compared to the first quarter 2005 consistent with market developments. In addition, certain of our time charters (like the one of M/V Kuo Hsiung) had declining charter rates. Higher expenses during the first quarter of 2006 reflect increased vessel operating costs, due partly to initial expenses for the newly acquired M/V Artemis; also, we now have general and administrative expenses - that we did not have in the first quarter of 2005 - which reflect our status and requirements as a public company, higher depreciation and amortization, as well as increased interest and finance costs.

As of today, 90% of our ship capacity days in 2006 have been fixed (accounting for the fixed spot employment in the first and second quarters of the year); in 2007, 58% of our capacity is under time charter contracts or protected from market fluctuations. We believe that our contract coverage gives us a solid revenue base for 2006 and 2007.

Finally, consistent with our goal to pay regular dividends to our shareholders we declared a $0.06 dividend similar to the dividend for the fourth quarter of 2005. Since our private placement in August 2005, we have declared total dividends of $ 0.19 per share.

(**) Euroseas has signed a Memorandum of Agreement to sell the bulk carrier M/V Pantelis P. to be delivered to the buyers between May 15 and June 30, 2006 at Euroseas option.

Euroseas employs its vessels in the spot and time charter market and through pool arrangement. Presently, our three containership and our multipurpose vessels are employed under time charters, as well as one of handysize bulkers; the other three handysize bulkers are under voyage charters while our panamax vessel, IRINI, is employed in the Baumarine pool that is managed by Klaveness, a major global charterer in the dry bulk area, and also participates in three short funds (contracts to carry cargo at agreed rates), minimizing its exposure to the spot market (covered at 102% in 2006, 77% for 2007 and 42% for 2008, approximately).

As of today, 90% of our ship capacity days in 2006 accounting for fixed spot employment in the first and second quarter of the year, and 58% in 2007 are under time charter contracts or protected from market fluctuations.

FLEET DATA

Calendar days for fleet (2)	630	720
Available days for fleet (3)	630	709
Voyage days for fleet (4)	629	709

Vessel operating expenses (7)	4,046	4,330
General and administrative expenses (8)	0	326
Total vessel operating expenses (9)	4,046	4,656

(1) Average number of vessels is the number of vessels that constituted our fleet for the relevant period, as measured by the sum of the number of calendar days each vessel was a part of our fleet during the period divided by the number of calendar days in that period.

(2) Calendar days. We define calendar days as the total number of days in a period during which each vessel in our fleet was in our possession including off-hire days associated with major repairs, drydockings or special or intermediate surveys. Calendar days are an indicator of the size of our fleet over a period and affect both the amount of revenues and the amount of expenses that we record during that period.

(3) Available days. We define available days as the total number of days in a period during which each vessel in our fleet was in our possession net of off-hire days associated with scheduled repairs, drydockings or special or intermediate surveys. The shipping industry uses available days to measure the number of days in a period during which vessels were available to generate revenues.

(4) Voyage days. We define voyage days as the total number of days in a period during which each vessel in our fleet was in our possession net of off-hire days associated with scheduled and unscheduled repairs, drydockings or special or intermediate surveys or days waiting to find employment or other offhire. The shipping industry uses voyage days to measure the number of days in a period during which vessels actually generate revenues.

(5) Fleet utilization. We calculate fleet utilization by dividing the number of our voyage days during a period by the number of our available days during that period. The shipping industry uses fleet utilization to measure a company's efficiency in finding suitable employment for its vessels and minimizing the amount of days that its vessels are off-hire for reasons such as unscheduled repairs or days waiting to find employment.

(6) Time charter equivalent, or TCE, is a measure of the average daily revenue performance of a vessel on a per voyage basis. Our method of calculating TCE is consistent with industry standards and is determined by dividing revenue generated from voyage charters net of voyage expenses by available days for the relevant time period. Voyage expenses primarily consist of port, canal and fuel costs that are unique to a particular voyage, which would otherwise be paid by the charterer under a time charter contract, as well as commissions. TCE is a standard shipping industry performance measure used primarily to compare period-to-period changes in a shipping company's performance despite changes in the mix of charter types (i.e., spot voyage charters, time charters and bareboat charters) under which the vessels may be employed between the periods.

(7) Daily vessel operating expenses, which includes crew costs, provisions, deck and engine stores, lubricating oil, insurance, maintenance and repairs are calculated by dividing vessel operating expenses by fleet calendar days for the relevant time period.

(8) Daily general and administrative expense is calculated by dividing general and administrative expense by fleet calendar days for the relevant time period.

(9) Total vessel operating expenses, or TVOE, is a measure of our total expenses associated with operating our vessels. TVOE is the sum of vessel operating expenses and general and administrative expenses. Daily TVOE is calculated by dividing TVOE by fleet calendar days for the relevant time period.

EBITDA is included herein because it is a basis upon which we assess our liquidity position and because we believe that it presents useful information to investors regarding a company's ability to service and/or incur indebtedness.
