Company Introduces New Super-Duty Flash Bang and Throwaway Pepper Spray Grenades

SARNIA, Ontario, October 24, 2017 Lamperd Less Lethal, Inc. (OTC PINK: LLLI), an innovation leader and manufacturer of advanced security solutions, has filled the first of ongoing product orders under a new, exclusive agreement with the Canadian Tactical Officers Association (CTOA). This first order was used last week for a CTOA conference and training course in Brockville, Ontario at the extensive Reticle Range and Training facility. Police and other law enforcement personnel from many different agencies were in attendance to train on some of the newest equipment and tactics. Lamperd's latest distraction device grenades were showcased as well as munitions including Safety SOC, WASP and distraction types as well as information on Lamperd 37mm & 40mm rounds.

Lamperd Less Lethal was represented by Defense Optics Group, one of our most important distributors. At the conference attendees were given live fire introductions to new Lamperd products including the company's Super-Duty Flash Bang Grenade which produces heavy concussion, a brilliant flash and a very loud report to cause extreme disorientation. Officers were very impressed with the features of this new device such as its non-rolling design to ensure it stays where it lands, thereby minimizing collateral issues or potential fire hazards. The Lamperd Super-Duty Flash Bang was considered the most useful and formidable distraction device available.

Another new product presented was the Lamperd Throwaway Pepper Spray Grenade which is made only of lightweight plastic and aluminum, leaving no significant debris after detonation to be used against officers as a weapon of opportunity. This version is a hand-thrown device, not requiring a launcher and is fully disposable to provide a lower cost per unit. Overall, the CTOA training event was extremely successful and Lamperd is expecting increasing product orders as a result.
