PART I

Item 1. Business.

Sears Roebuck Acceptance Corp. ("SRAC") is a wholly-owned finance subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck and Co. ("Sears"). To meet certain capital requirements of its businesses, Sears borrows on a short-term basis through the issuance of notes to, and from time to time sells receivable balances to, SRAC. SRAC obtains funds through the issuance of commercial paper and long-term debt, which includes medium-term notes and discrete underwritten debt.

SRAC's income is derived primarily from the earnings on its investment in the notes and receivable balances of Sears. Under a letter agreement between SRAC and Sears, the interest rate on Sears notes is calculated so that SRAC maintains an earnings to fixed charges ratio of at least 1.25. The yield on the investment in Sears notes is related to SRAC's borrowing costs and, as a result, SRAC's earnings fluctuate in response to movements in interest rates and changes in Sears borrowing requirements.

SRAC's commercial paper ratings are F-2 from Fitch Inc., P-2 from Moody's Investor Services, Inc., and A-2 from Standard & Poor's. Long-term debt ratings are A- from Fitch Inc., A3 from Moody's Investor Services, Inc., and A- from Standard & Poor's.

SRAC and Sears have entered into agreements for the benefit of certain debtholders of SRAC under which Sears, for so long as required by the applicable documents, will continue to own all of the outstanding voting stock of SRAC and will pay SRAC such amounts that, when added to other available earnings, will be sufficient for SRAC to maintain an earnings to fixed charges ratio of not less than 1.10.

SRAC provides backup support for its commercial paper portfolio through its committed credit facilities. As of December 30, 2000, SRAC commercial paper was supported by $5.060 billion of syndicated credit agreements; $875 million of which expires in 2002 and $4.185 billion of which expires in 2003.

Pursuant to the syndicated credit agreements between SRAC and various banks, the letter agreement between SRAC and Sears concerning SRAC's investment in Sears notes may not be amended, waived, terminated, or modified (except that SRAC's fixed charge coverage ratio may be reduced to as low as 1.15) without the approval of such banks.

SRAC ended 2000 with an equity position of $3.1 billion and a debt-to-equity ratio of 4.6:1 compared to 4.9:1 at the end of 1999.

Item 7. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

Financial Condition

SRAC's investment in Sears notes increased to $16.9 billion at year-end 2000 from $16.8 billion at the end of 1999. Short-term borrowings at the end of 1999 were $3.9 billion, a $1.2 billion increase from the prior year. Total debt outstanding decreased in 2000 to $14.1 billion from $14.2 billion. SRAC's investment in the Notes of Sears increased as a result of increased funding requirements of Sears.

On January 26, 2001, SRAC issued an $800 million ten-year discrete underwritten bond with a 7% coupon.

Results of Operations

SRAC's total revenues of $1,216 million for 2000 increased from $1,201 million in 1999 and decreased from $1,234 million in 1998. The revenue increase for 2000 resulted primarily from a 30 basis point increase in the average rates on earning assets from 1999 to 2000 which was partially offset by a $500 million reduction in average earning asset levels during 2000 versus 1999. The revenue decrease for 1999 resulted from a 21 basis point reduction in the average rate on earning assets from 1998 to 1999.

SRAC's interest and related expenses were $966 million, $955 million and $979 million in 2000, 1999, and 1998, respectively. In 2000, SRAC's average cost of short-term funds increased 141 basis points from 5.25% in 1999 to 6.66%. SRAC's average cost of term debt increased to 6.60% in 2000 compared to 6.59% in 1999. Increases in interest and related expenses resulted from higher average interest rates in 2000. These increases were partially offset by a reduction in average debt levels. Average outstanding short-term debt of $3.2 billion in 2000 decreased nearly $500 million from the $3.7 billion average daily 1999 level. Average outstanding term debt in 2000 was $11.1 billion compared to $11.2 billion in 1999.

During 2000, SRAC issued $295 million in term debt securities as follows:

*$270 million of variable-rate medium-term notes, with an average term of 1.5 years; and

*$25 million zero coupon medium-term note, with a yield to maturity of 7.60% and a term of 6.0 years

SRAC's management of the debt portfolio during 1999

Edgar Filing: SEARS ROEBUCK ACCEPTANCE CORP - Form 10-K

resulted in a $200 million reduction from 1998 average debt levels and a 2 basis point reduction in average cost. This resulted in decreases in interest and related expenses throughout 1999.

SRAC's net income was $161 million in 2000, $158 million in 1999 and $163 million in 1998.

On June 1, 2000, Duff & Phelps Credit Rating Co. merged with Fitch IBCA, Inc to form Fitch, Inc. and SRAC's ratings were harmonized to a single overall rating.

The financial information appearing in this Annual Report on Form 10-K is presented in historical dollars, which do not reflect the decline in purchasing power that results from inflation. As is the case for most financial companies, substantially all of SRAC's assets and liabilities are monetary in nature. Interest rates on SRAC's investment in Sears notes are set to provide fixed charge coverage of at least 1.25 times, thereby insulating SRAC from the effects of inflation-based interest rate increases.

Item 7A. Market Risk

SRAC's outstanding debt securities are subject to repricing risk. The Company's policy is to manage interest rate risk through the strategic use of fixed and variable rate debt. All debt securities are considered non-trading. At year-end 2000 and 1999, 45% and 31%, respectively of the funding portfolio was variable rate (including current maturities of fixed-rate long-term debt that will reprice in the next 12 months). Based on SRAC's funding portfolio as of year-end 2000 and 1999, which both totaled $14.2 billion, a 100 basis point change in interest rates would affect annual pre-tax funding cost by approximately $63 million and $44 million, respectively. This calculation assumes the funding portfolio balance at year end remains constant for an annual period and that the 100 basis point change occurs at the beginning of the annual period. The effect on net earnings is mitigated by the fixed charge coverage agreement with Sears.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Sears Roebuck Acceptance Corp. ("SRAC"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck and Co. ("Sears"), is principally engaged in the business of acquiring short-term notes of Sears and, to a lesser extent, purchasing receivable balances from Sears, using proceeds from its short-term borrowing programs (primarily the direct placement of commercial paper) and the issuance of long-term debt (medium-term notes and discrete underwritten debt).

Under a letter agreement between SRAC and Sears, the interest rate on the Sears notes is presently calculated so that SRAC maintains an earnings to fixed charges ratio of at least 1.25.

Cash and cash equivalents is defined to include all highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less. Receivables purchased from Sears are purchased at par and are interest-bearing.

The results of operations of SRAC are included in the consolidated federal income tax return of Sears. Tax liabilities and benefits are allocated as generated by SRAC, regardless of whether such benefits would be currently available on a separate return basis.

SRAC's fiscal year ends on the Saturday closest to December 31. Fiscal year-ends were December 30, 2000 (52 weeks), January 1, 2000 (52 weeks), and January 2, 1999 (52 weeks).

Certain reclassifications have been made in the 1998 financial statements to conform with the current year presentation.

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, is effective for all fiscal years beginning after June 15, 2000. SFAS 133, as amended, establishes accounting and reporting standards for derivative instruments, including certain derivative instruments embedded in other contracts and for hedging activities. Under SFAS 133, certain contracts that were not formerly considered derivatives now meet the definition of a derivative. SRAC adopted SFAS 133 effective December 30, 2001. The adoption of SFAS 133 resulted in no transition adjustment.

2. FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

Federal income taxes provided for by SRAC amounted to $87 million, $85 million and $88 million for the fiscal years 2000, 1999 and 1998, respectively. These amounts represent current income tax provisions calculated at an effective income tax rate of 35%. No deferred tax provisions were necessary.

3. COMMERCIAL CUSTOMER RECEIVABLE BALANCES

SRAC has purchased commercial customer receivable balances ("CCRB") from Sears. The receivables were purchased, with recourse, and SRAC earned interest on the outstanding balance. The receivables were made up of credit accounts Sears has established with merchants and contractors for bulk purchases from Sears and are predominantly paid within 30 days.

Each month, SRAC purchased new receivables and receives collections on previously purchased receivables. SRAC discontinued this program as of the end of 1999.

SRAC continued to provide support for 100% of its outstanding commercial paper through its investment portfolio and credit facilities. SRAC's investment portfolio fluctuated from a low of $1 million to a high of $1,170 million in 2000. Committed credit facilities as of December 30, 2000 were as follows:

Expiration Date	(millions)
April 2002	875
April 2003	$4,185
	$5,060

SRAC pays commitment fees on the unused portions of its credit facilities. The annualized fees at December 30, 2000 on these credit lines were $3.7 million.

7. LETTERS OF CREDIT AND OTHER COMMITMENTS

SRAC is the guarantor of a $70 million promissory note issued by Sears, Roebuck de Puerto Rico, Inc. under the terms of a July 1998 private placement. The note is renewable on a nine-month cycle.

SRAC issues import letters of credit to facilitate Sears purchase of goods from foreign suppliers. At December 30, 2000, letters of credit totaling $166 million were outstanding. SRAC has no liabilities with respect to this program other than the obligation to pay drafts under the letters of credit that, if not reimbursed by Sears on the day of the disbursement, are automatically converted into demand borrowings by Sears from SRAC. To date, all SRAC disbursements have been reimbursed on a same-day basis. SRAC also issues irrevocable letters of credit to third parties on behalf of Sears. At December 30, 2000, irrevocable letters of credit totaling $33 million were outstanding.

Edgar Filing: SEARS ROEBUCK ACCEPTANCE CORP - Form 10-K

8. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

In the normal course of business, SRAC invests in certain notes of Sears and from time to time, purchases commercial customer receivable balances from Sears.

SRAC's financial instruments (both assets and liabilities), with the exception of medium-term notes and discrete underwritten debt, are short-term or variable in nature and as such their carrying value approximates fair value. Medium-term notes and discrete underwritten debt are valued based on quoted market prices when available or discounted cash flows, using interest rates currently available to SRAC on similar borrowings. The fair values of these financial instruments are as follows:

(millions)	2000		1999
