Forward-looking statements are statements made by us concerning events that may or may not occur in the future. These statements may be made directly in this document or may be incorporated by reference from other documents. You can find many of these statements by looking for words like believes, expects, anticipates, estimates or similar expressions.

Forward-Looking Statements are not Guarantees of Future Performance

Forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors, including those identified under Risk Factors below, elsewhere in this prospectus and incorporated by reference in this prospectus that may cause our actual results, performance or achievements, or industry results, to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. Such factors include, among others, the following:

- general economic and business conditions;
- changes in customer preferences;
- competition;
- changes in technology;
- the introduction of new products;
- the integration of any acquisition, including the integration of transferred employees;
- changes in business strategy;
- the possibility that United States or foreign regulatory and/or administrative agencies might initiate enforcement actions against us or our distributors;
- our indebtedness;
- quality of our management and business abilities and the judgment of our personnel;

-2-

- the availability, terms and deployment of capital;
- the risk of litigation, especially patent litigation as well as the cost associated with patent and other litigation;
- changes in regulatory requirements; and
- various other factors referenced in this prospectus, our Form 10-K and our June 30, 2001 Form 10-Q.

See Item 7: Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations and Item 1: Business in our Form 10-K for a further discussion of these factors. You are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date hereof. CONMED CORPORATION

CONMED is a medical technology company specializing in instruments and implants for arthroscopic sports medicine, and powered surgical instruments, for orthopedic, ENT, neurosurgery and other surgical specialties. We are also a leading developer, manufacturer and supplier of advanced medical devices, including RF electrosurgery systems used in all types of surgery, ECG electrodes for heart monitoring, and minimally invasive surgical devices. Our products are used in a variety of clinical settings, such as operating rooms, surgery centers, physicians' offices and critical care areas of hospitals.

We have used strategic business acquisitions to broaden our product offerings, to increase our market share in certain product lines and to realize economies of scale. During the last six years, we have completed seven significant business acquisitions. Completed acquisitions, together with internal growth, have resulted in a compound annual growth rate in net sales of 33% between 1996 and 2000.

Our executive offices are located at 525 French Road, Utica, New York 13502-5994. Our telephone number is (315) 625-3208 and our internet address is www.conmed.com.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

Acquisition of Product Lines from Imagyn Medical Technologies

On July 6, 2001, we completed the acquisition of certain minimal access surgery product lines from Imagyn Medical Technologies. The products acquired consist of various single-use and reusable (devices integrating reusable and disposable, single-use components) instruments such as trocars, handheld instruments and tissue ligating devices enabling minimal access surgical techniques. We also acquired Imagyn's line of Reflex® skin staplers for wound closure.

Under the terms of the acquisition agreement, we issued to Imagyn 1.3 million shares of common stock. The issued stock is subject to a 90-day lock-up restriction and certain other sales restrictions, and Imagyn has certain registration rights. The shares issued to Imagyn are being registered under this Registration Statement.

Common Stock Dividend

On August 9, 2001, we declared a common stock dividend of one share of common stock for every two shares of common stock owned by shareholders of record at the close of business on August 21, 2001. On September 7, 2001, we paid the common stock dividend.

-3-

RISK FACTORS

Purchase of the shares of common stock offered by this prospectus involves various risks. These risks include the principal factors listed below and the other matters set forth in this prospectus or incorporated by reference in this prospectus. You should carefully consider all of these risks.

Our substantial leverage and debt service requirements may force us to adopt alternative business strategies. We have indebtedness which is substantial in relation to our shareholders' equity, as well as interest and debt service requirements that are significant compared to our cash flow from operations. As of June 30, 2001, we had $367.7 million of debt outstanding, which represented about 60% of total capitalization.

The degree to which we are leveraged could have important consequences to investors, including but not limited to the following:

- a substantial portion of our cash flow from operations must be dedicated to debt service and will not be available for operations, capital expenditures, acquisitions and other purposes;
- our ability to obtain additional financing in the future for working capital, capital expenditures, acquisitions or general corporate purposes may be limited or impaired; and
- certain of our borrowings, including our borrowings under our principal bank credit agreement, which we refer to as our credit facility, are and will continue to be at variable rates of interest, which exposes us to the risk of increased interest rates.

Our ability to satisfy our obligations will depend upon our future operating performance, which will be affected by prevailing economic conditions and financial, business and other factors, many of which are beyond our control. There can be no assurance that our operating results will be sufficient for us to meet our obligations. In addition, if we are unable to service our indebtedness, we will be forced to adopt an alternative strategy that may include actions such as foregoing acquisitions, reducing or delaying capital expenditures, selling assets, restructuring or refinancing our indebtedness or seeking additional equity capital. There can be no assurance that any of these strategies could be implemented on terms acceptable to us, if at all.

In the event of any default under our credit facility, the credit facility lenders could elect to declare all amounts borrowed under our credit facility, together with accrued interest, to be due and payable. If we were unable to repay such borrowings, the credit facility lenders could proceed against the collateral securing the credit facility, which consists of substantially all of our property and assets.

Our financial performance is subject to the risk of business acquisitions, including the effects of increased borrowing and the integration of businesses. An element of our business strategy has been to expand through acquisitions and we may seek to pursue acquisitions in the future. Our success is dependent in part upon our ability to effectively integrate acquired operations with our operations. We also rely on sellers for transition assistance. While we believe that we have sufficient management and other resources to accomplish the integration of our past and future acquisitions, there can be no assurance in this regard or that we will not experience difficulties with customers, suppliers, distributors, personnel or others. In addition, while we are generally entitled to customary indemnification from sellers of businesses for any difficulties that may have arisen prior to our acquisition of each business, the amount and time for claiming under these indemnification provisions is limited. There can be no assurance that we will be able to identify and make acquisitions on acceptable terms or that we will be able to obtain financing for such acquisitions on acceptable terms. As a result, our financial performance is now and will continue to be subject to various risks associated with the acquisition of businesses, including the financial effects associated with any increased borrowing required to fund such acquisitions or with the integration of such businesses.

Our credit facility contains covenants that may limit our flexibility or prevent us from taking actions. Our credit facility contains certain restrictive covenants which will affect, and in many respects significantly limit or prohibit, among other things, our ability to:

- incur indebtedness;
- make prepayments of certain indebtedness;
- make investments;
- engage in transactions with affiliates;
- sell assets;
- engage in mergers and acquisitions; and
- realize important elements of our business strategy.

Our credit facility also requires us to meet certain financial ratios and tests. These covenants may prevent us from integrating our acquired businesses or pursuing acquisitions, significantly limit our operating and financial flexibility and limit our ability to respond to changes in our business or competitive activities.

The highly competitive market for our products may create adverse pricing pressures. The market for our products is highly competitive. Many of these competitors offer a range of products in areas other than those in which we compete, which may make such competitors more attractive to surgeons, hospitals, GPOs and others. In addition, many of our competitors are larger and have greater financial resources than we do and offer a range of products broader than our products. Competitive pricing pressures or the introduction of new products by our competitors could have an adverse effect on our revenues and profitability. Some of the companies with which we now compete or may compete in the future have or may have more extensive research, marketing and manufacturing capabilities and significantly greater technical and personnel resources than we do, and may be better positioned to continue to improve their technology in order to compete in an evolving industry.

Demand for and use of our products may fluctuate as a result of:

- changes in surgeon preferences;
- the introduction of new products or new features to existing products;
- the introduction of alternative surgical technology; and
- advances in surgical procedures and discoveries or developments in the health care industry.

In recent years, the health care industry has undergone significant change driven by various efforts to reduce costs, including efforts at national health care reform, trends toward managed care, cuts in Medicare, consolidation of health care distribution companies and collective purchasing arrangements by office-based health care practitioners. There can be no assurance that demand for our products will not be adversely affected by such fluctuations and trends.

The loss or invalidity of our patents may reduce our competitive advantage. Much of the technology used in the markets in which we compete is covered by patents. We have numerous U.S. patents and corresponding foreign patents on products expiring at various dates from 2001 through 2018 and have additional patent applications pending. See Item 1: Business -- Research and Development Activities in our Form 10-K for a further description of our patents. Although we do not rely solely on our patents to maintain our competitive position, the loss of our patents could reduce the value of the related products and any related competitive advantage. Competitors may also be able to design around our patents and to compete effectively with our products. Also, our competitors may allege that our products infringe their patents, leading to voluntary or involuntary loss of sales from those products. In addition, the cost to prosecute infringements of our patents or the cost to defend our products against patent infringement actions by others could be substantial. There can be no assurance that pending patent applications will result in issued patents, that patents issued to or licensed by us will not be challenged by competitors or that such patents will be found to be valid or sufficiently broad to protect our technology or provide us with a competitive advantage.

Failure to comply with regulatory requirements could result in recalls, fines or materially adverse implications. All of our products are classified as medical devices subject to regulation by the FDA. As a manufacturer of medical devices, our manufacturing processes and facilities are subject to on-site inspection and continuing review by the FDA for compliance with the Quality System Regulations. Failure to comply with applicable domestic and/or foreign requirements can result in:

- fines or other enforcement actions;
- recall or seizure of products;
- total or partial suspension of production;
- withdrawal of existing product approvals or clearances;
- refusal to approve or clear new applications or notices; and
- criminal prosecution.

Many of our products are also subject to industry-set standards. The failure to comply with Quality System Regulations or industry-set standards could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition or results of operations.

We are subject to product recall. Although no recall has had a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition or results of operations, there can be no assurance that regulatory issues may not have a material adverse effect in the future.

Our significant international operations subject us to risks associated with operating in foreign countries. A portion of our operations are conducted outside the United States. About 27% of our 2000 net sales constituted foreign sales. As a result of our international operations, we are subject to risks associated with operating in foreign countries, including:

- devaluations and fluctuations in currency exchange rates;
- imposition of limitations on conversions of foreign currencies into dollars or remittance of dividends and other payments by foreign subsidiaries;
- imposition or increase of withholding and other taxes on remittances and other payments by foreign subsidiaries;
- trade barriers;
- political risks, including political instability;
- reliance on third parties to distribute our products;
- hyperinflation in certain foreign countries; and
- imposition or increase of investment and other restrictions by foreign governments.

There can be no assurance that such risks will not have a material adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

Our insurance coverage may be insufficient to cover the nature and amount of any product liability claims. The nature of our products as medical devices and today's litigious environment in the United States should be regarded as potential risks that could significantly and adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations. We maintain insurance to protect against claims associated with the use of our products, but there can be no assurance that our insurance coverage would adequately cover the amount or nature of any claim asserted against us. See Item 3: Legal Proceedings in our Form 10-K for a further discussion of the risk of product liability actions and our insurance coverage.

DESCRIPTION OF CAPITAL STOCK

Our authorized capital stock currently consists of 40,000,000 shares of common stock, par value $0.01 per share, and 500,000 shares of preferred stock, par value $0.01 per share.

Common Stock

As of September 7, 2001, there were 25,175,679 shares of our common stock issued and outstanding held of record by 1,205 shareholders. As of September 7, 2001, an additional 484,322 shares of common stock were reserved for issuance under our stock option plans.

Subject to the preferences, limitations and relative rights of holders of our preferred stock described below, the holders of our common stock are entitled, among other things,

- to share ratably in dividends if, when, and as declared by our board of directors out of funds legally available therefor,
- to one vote for each share held of record on all matters at all meetings of shareholders, and

-8-

- in the event of our liquidation, dissolution or winding-up, to share ratably in the distribution of assets remaining after payment of debts and expenses.

Holders of shares of our common stock have no cumulative voting rights or preemptive rights to subscribe for or purchase any additional shares of capital stock issued by us. Our transfer agent and registrar is Registrar and Transfer Company.

Under New York law, a corporation may declare and pay dividends or make other distributions in cash or its bonds or its property on its outstanding shares, except when the corporation is insolvent or would thereby be made insolvent, or when the declaration, payment or distribution would be contrary to any restriction contained in the certificate of incorporation. Our certificate of incorporation contains no such restriction. In general, dividends may be declared or paid and other distributions may be made out of surplus only, so that the net assets of the corporation remaining after such declaration, payment or distribution shall at least equal the amount of its stated capital.

Our board of directors presently intends to retain future earnings to finance the development of our business and does not presently intend to declare cash dividends. Should this policy change, the declaration of cash dividends will be determined by our board of directors in the light of conditions then existing, including our financial requirements and condition and provisions affecting the declaration and payment of dividends contained in debt agreements. Our credit facility prohibits the payment of cash dividends and further subjects us to compliance with various financial covenants.

Preferred Stock

We are currently authorized to issue up to 500,000 shares of our preferred stock, none of which is issued and outstanding. Our preferred stock may be issued in one or more series by our board of directors without further action by shareholders. Our board of directors is authorized to fix as to any such series the dividend rate or rates, redemption prices, preferences on liquidation, dissolution and winding-up, sinking fund terms (if any), conversion or exchange rights (if any), voting rights and any other preferences or special rights and qualifications.

Depending upon the rights of any preferred stock, its issuance could have an adverse effect on holders of our common stock by delaying or preventing a change in control, making removal of our present management more difficult or resulting in restrictions upon the payment of dividends and other distributions to the holders of our common stock.

Common Stock Warrant

On December 30, 1997, in connection with the acquisition of Linvatec, we issued to Bristol-Myers-Squibb Company, a warrant exercisable in whole or in part for up to 1,500,000 shares of our common stock at a price of $22.82 per share. Certain registration rights are afforded under the terms of the warrant. The number of shares and the exercise price are subject to adjustment for stock splits, dividends, distributions and combinations. Any unexercised portion of the warrant will expire on December 30, 2007.

SELLING SHAREHOLDERS

1,950,000 of the shares are being offered by Imagyn Medical Technologies, Inc. under its registration rights. Imagyn acquired the shares as the result of our acquisition on July 6, 2001 of several of its minimal access surgery product lines. Imagyn owns no other shares of common stock of CONMED in addition to the shares offered by this prospectus. Imagyn does not have any material relationship with us other than in connection with our acquisition of certain of the product lines.

24,078 of the shares are being offered by Dr. Jerome Canady and Argon Electro-Surgical Corporation under their registration rights. Dr. Canady and Argon Electro-Surgical acquired the shares in connection with a license under which we have the exclusive right to sell certain products under their patents. Dr. Canady and Argon Electro-Surgical own no other shares of common stock of CONMED in addition to the shares offered by this prospectus.

Neither Dr. Canady nor Argon Electro-Surgical have any material relationship with us other than in connection with the license agreement.

SHARES ELIGIBLE FOR FUTURE SALE

The Company has outstanding 25,175,679 shares of common stock. 1,412,068 shares of common stock beneficially owned by certain persons who may be deemed affiliates of the Company for purposes of Rule 144 and Rule 145 under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, are not freely tradeable without restriction or further registration under the Securities Act. All of these shares are eligible for sale in the open market in accordance with Rule 144 or Rule 145 under the Securities Act.

In general, under Rule 144 as currently in effect, any person who has beneficially owned shares for at least one year, including persons who may be deemed an affiliate of ours, is entitled to sell within any three-month period a number of shares of our common stock that does not exceed the greater of (i) 1% of the then outstanding shares of our common stock or (ii) the average weekly trading volume in our common stock during the four calendar weeks preceding such sale. Such sales under Rule 144 are also subject to certain manner of sale provisions, notice requirements and to the availability of our current public information. In addition, any person who is not deemed our affiliate, and who has beneficially owned his or her shares for at least two years, is entitled to sell such shares under Rule 144 without regard to the volume limitations, manner of sale provisions or notice requirements.

While no predictions can be made of any effect, that open market sales of shares or the availability of shares for sale will have on the market price prevailing from time to time, sales of substantial amounts of our common stock in the public market, or the perception that such sales will occur, could adversely affect market prices and trading activities in our common stock.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

Methods of Distribution by Selling Shareholders

Each of the selling shareholders advised us that it proposes to offer any or all of the shares for sale from time to time and in several different ways. For example, it may make sales:

- on the Nasdaq Stock Market,
- on another interdealer quotation system or stock exchange on which our common stock is quoted or listed at the time,
- through negotiated transactions or
- otherwise at prices related to prevailing market prices or at negotiated prices.

From time to time, the selling shareholders may offer shares through brokers, dealers or agents, who may receive compensation in the form of discounts, concessions or commissions from any selling shareholder, agents and/or the purchasers for whom they may act as agent.

Preparation of an Additional Prospectus to Describe the Method of Sale

If necessary, we will prepare another prospectus to describe the method of sale in greater detail. As of the date of this prospectus, we do not know of any arrangements by the selling shareholders to sell the shares, nor do we know which brokerage firms the selling shareholders may select to sell the shares. In addition, the selling shareholders may sell the shares without the aid of a registration statement if it follows certain SEC rules. More than 10 percent of the net proceeds of this offering may be received by an affiliate of a NASD member which is participating in the distribution of the shares. The offering will be made in compliance with Rule 2710(c)(8) of the NASD Conduct Rules.

Parties that May be Deemed Underwriters

The selling shareholders and any brokers, dealers or agents that participate in the distribution of the shares may be considered underwriters under the federal securities laws. If a selling shareholder is considered an underwriter, any profits on the sale of shares by it and any associated discounts, concessions or commissions may be considered underwriting compensation under the federal securities laws. In addition, if a selling shareholder is considered an underwriter, the selling shareholder may be subject to some liabilities for misstatements and omissions in the registration statement.

Regulation of Sales by Selling Shareholders

The selling shareholders and any other person participating in a sale or distribution of shares will be subject to applicable provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, which is the federal statute regulating sales of securities. Some rules and regulations issued by the SEC, including some limitations on activities during securities offerings and anti-fraud provisions, may limit when the selling shareholders, or any other person, may sell or purchase the shares.

In some jurisdictions, the state securities laws require that the shares be offered or sold only through registered or licensed brokers or dealers. In addition, in some jurisdictions the shares may not be offered or sold unless they have been registered or qualified for sale in such jurisdictions or an exemption from registration or qualification is available and is complied with.

Expenses

We will not receive any part of the proceeds from the sale of the shares. We will bear expenses we incur in registering the shares with the SEC. We estimate these expenses to be approximately $60,000. If and when we are required to update this prospectus, we may incur additional expenses in excess of the amount estimated above. The selling shareholders will pay their own expenses, including brokerage commissions, legal fees or similar expenses, in offering and selling the shares.

USE OF PROCEEDS

The shares may be sold by this prospectus by the selling shareholders. We will not receive any proceeds from the sales of the shares, but we will bear some of the expenses. See Plan of Distribution Expenses for a description of the payment of expenses.

VALIDITY OF COMMON STOCK

The validity of the shares offered hereunder has been passed upon for CONMED by Daniel S. Jonas, its Vice President Legal Affairs and General Counsel. As of June 30, 2001, Mr. Jonas owned no shares of our common stock and had options to acquire 51,000 shares of our common stock.
