CRYPTOLOGIC UNVEILS SIX-SEATED POKER TABLE TOURNAMENT SOFTWARE ENHANCEMENT

New SIXPAK tournament capability offers online players exciting final table action in every hand

March 31, 2005 (Toronto, ON) CryptoLogic Inc., a leading software developer to the global Internet gaming market, released a new software enhancement that gives online poker players exciting final-table action throughout an entire tournament event. The company's new six-person per table tournament capability, offered through its WagerLogic subsidiary, has been branded SIXPAK: Short-handed Internet X-citement.

Being at the final table of a major tournament is every player's dream, and now CryptoLogic's software can help online players live that dramatic final-table experience in every hand, said Lewis Rose, CryptoLogic's President and CEO. CryptoLogic's new SIXPAK helps enhance licensees' tournament strategy, expand their poker offering, and provide their players with a great primer for their next major online or land-based tournament.

Players can join in the SIXPAK action and build up their skills for final-table finishes at some of the world's top Internet gaming sites, including williamhillpoker.com, betfairpoker.com, interpoker.com, littlewoodspoker.com, classicpoker.com, ukbettingpoker.co.uk, theritzclublondon.com, sunpoker.com, totalbetpoker.co.uk, and pokerplex.com.

Tournaments are a huge marketing draw, and players love the excitement of the final table. CryptoLogic's new SIXPAK tournament software is taking that excitement up a notch, said Andy Goetsch, CryptoLogic's Vice President, Poker Software Development. SIXPAK events play as if you are at the final table from beginning to end, which will get the hearts of online players beating just a little faster.

CryptoLogic's new six-seated poker tournament feature is the latest enhancement to its software that powers one of the top five revenue-generating poker sites in the world, according to PokerPulse.com, an independent research site. Its licensees' central poker room attracts more than 5,400 simultaneous online players from more than 120 countries, with a total average cash pot of $18 million won daily and 200,000 hands of poker dealt daily.

The Internet poker industry has grown dramatically, and the global market is at an annual run rate of $2 billion today – up from $100 million just two plus years earlier. CryptoLogic is advancing its market leadership in online poker by investing in strong partnerships with trusted, brand name licensees, and in product development and system scalability to meet the needs of the online players.
