TRI-CONTINENTAL MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION

Interview with Your Portfolio Manager, John B. Cunningham

What were Tri-Continental's investment results for the nine months ended September 30, 2006?

For the nine months ended September 30, 2006, Tri-Continental delivered a total return of 14.38% based on market price and 9.08% based on net asset value (NAV). During the same period, Tri-Continental's benchmark, the Standard & Poor's 500 Composite Stock Price Index (S&P 500 Index), returned 8.52%, and the Corporation's peers, as measured by the Lipper Closed-End Core Funds Average, returned 7.59%, and the Lipper Closed-End Growth & Income Funds Average returned 8.73% .

What market conditions and events materially affected Tri-Continental's performance during the period?

Despite some ups and downs, the market has been relatively strong overall, year-to-date. The year began on a strong note with the market delivering solid gains through mid-May and several of the major indices hitting five-year highs. Concerns over slowing economic growth, consumer spending, and the housing market, coupled with inflationary fears and uncertainty over further Fed action, led to a change in investors' risk tolerance and we saw a bout of profit taking. Oil prices hit an all-time high in mid-July as Middle East tensions flared over Lebanon's attack on Israel and Iran's potential nuclear ambitions, further fueling the summer sell-off.

August, however, brought a sharp retreat in oil prices as a UN sanctioned cease-fire between Lebanon and Israel and a slowing US economy relieved some of the upward price pressure. We also saw a decrease in longer-term interest rates as the 10-Year US Treasury Bond rate declined considerably over a relatively short period of time. Inflation remained in check, and the Fed's pause in August and at the subsequent Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meeting in September signaled to investors that it might be finished with its interest rate raising campaign, at least for the time being. With a favorable backdrop of lower oil prices and longer-term interest rates, we saw a renewal of investor interest and the market traded straight up from the year's low in June through the end of the period.

What investment strategies and techniques materially affected Tri-Continental's performance during the period?

Tri-Continental was well positioned for the third quarter rebound and as a result, garnered strong gains, outperforming the benchmark year-to-date. We were able to take advantage of some weakness throughout the summer, looking particularly at stocks and sectors we thought had been oversold. Stock selection within Information Technology, Health Care, and Consumer Staples was instrumental in propelling performance upward for the period.

Tri-Continental Corporation

Weaker stock selection within Materials, Financials, and Industrials offset gains to some extent, but on the whole, the positives outweighed the negatives.

Information Technology was the Corporation's largest sector weighting for the period. Tri-Continental was overweight, relative to the benchmark, and while the sector posted modest gains for the benchmark, stock selection, in particular Mercury Interactive, the largest contributing issue for the period, resulted in considerable relative outperformance. Cogent, a biometric tech company, was one of the top detracting issues for the period, though it was more than offset by Mercury Interactive's upward drive on performance.

Tri-Continental's second largest weighting for the period was in Financials, a sector that delivered strong absolute gains for the period. Tri-Continental was slightly underweight, and stock selection within the sector resulted in relative underperformance.

Health Care was the Corporation's third largest sector allocation. Tri-Continental was overweight in the area, and outperformed the benchmark, with considerable contribution from Pfizer. The pharmaceutical giant was one of the portfolio's top contributors for the period as well as one of its top holdings at the close of the period. Boston Scientific was the largest detractor from Tri-Continental's performance for the period, underperforming over concerns relating to its acquisition of Guidant earlier in the period.

The Consumer Staples sector had the largest positive impact on the Corporation's performance for the period. Consumer Discretionary was also an area of overall positive contribution, though Dollar General, a retailer in the sector, whose lower-end customers are more affected by higher energy prices, was a top detractor from Tri-Continental's performance. The largest area of underperformance for the period was the Materials sector, which included one of the Corporation's top detracting issues, containerboard company Smurfit-Stone.

Though it comprised a small weighting in the benchmark as well as in Tri-Continental's portfolio, Telecomm Services was the highest returning sector for the Corporation and benchmark for the period. BellSouth, which agreed to merge with AT&T during the period, was a top contributing issue to the Corporation's investment results. Energy company Exxon Mobil was also a top contributor for the period.

What is your outlook?

In terms of our current positioning, though we plan to maintain an overweight in the sector, we have been scaling back in Information Technology, taking advantage of some of the recent run-ups. We've also narrowed our underweighting in Energy as commodity prices have eased and stock prices have come down. As of September 30, we have raised our cash position, but we're comfortable with the higher weighting and will be looking to redeploy cash as attractive opportunities arise.

We believe the environment as we head into 2007 will be a constructive one. Following the October FOMC meeting, the Fed remains on hold with respect to changing the federal funds rate — the rate banks charge each other on overnight loans. If oil prices continue to retreat, we believe it will help boost consumer confidence, and perhaps spending as well. Capital spending by businesses remains solid and we expect this to continue. Corporate profitability and earnings growth, while slowing, remain strong.

Overall, we believe stock valuations are attractive. We started the year expecting stocks to finish 2006 with high single-digit or low double-digit gains. Given current economic, market, and business conditions, we believe this is still the case, which means that there could be some upside for investors over the balance of the year.

THIRD QUARTER REPORT 2006

November 17, 2006

To the Stockholders:

We are pleased to present your third quarter report for Tri-Continental Corporation. The report contains Tri-Continental's investment results and portfolio of investments.

For the nine months ended September 30, 2006, Tri-Continental delivered a total return of 14.38% based on market price and 9.08% based on net asset value (NAV). This compares favorably to Tri-Continental's benchmark, the S&P 500 Index, which returned 8.52%, the Lipper Closed-End Core Funds Average, which returned 7.59%, and the Lipper Closed-End Growth & Income Funds Average, which returned 8.73% for the period.

On November 16, 2006, the Board of Directors voted to renew Tri-Continental's stock repurchase program. The program allows the Corporation to repurchase up to 5% of its common stock in the open market from January 1, 2007 through December 31, 2007, as long as its discount to NAV exceeds 10%. The repurchase program has demonstrated a positive impact on Tri-Continental's NAV, since the Corporation has been able to purchase shares at a discount and retire them at NAV. Further, it has reduced the long-term growth of the number of shares outstanding as well as the dilutive effect of issuing shares for reinvestment of dividends or capital gains.

Thank you for your continued support of Tri-Continental Corporation. We look forward to serving your investment needs for many years to come.

By order of the Board of Directors,

William C. Morris
Chairman

Brian T. Zino
President

Performance data quoted in this report represents past performance and does not guarantee or indicate future investment results. The rates of return will vary and the principal value of an investment will fluctuate. Shares, if sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. Total returns of the Corporation as of the most recent month end will be made available at www.seligman.com¹ by the seventh business day following that month end. J. & W. Seligman & Co. Incorporated, the investment manager of the Corporation, made certain payments to the Corporation in May 2004. Absent such payments, the net asset value returns that include this period would have been lower. Returns reflect changes in market price or net asset value, as applicable, and assume reinvestment of distributions. Performance data quoted does not reflect the deduction of taxes that investors may pay on distributions or the sale of shares. An investment in Tri-Continental is not a deposit in a bank and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency.

* Returns for periods of less than one year are not annualized.

 The Lipper Closed-End Core Funds Average, the Lipper Closed-End Growth & Income Funds Average (the "Lipper Averages"), and the Standard & Poor's 500 Composite Stock Price Index (the "S&P 500 Index") are unmanaged benchmarks that assume reinvestment of all distributions. The Lipper Averages exclude the effect of taxes and any costs associated with the purchase of shares, and the S&P 500 Index excludes the effect of fees, taxes, and sales charges. The Lipper Closed-End Core Funds Average measures the performance of closed-end funds that, by portfolio practice, typically have an average price-to-earnings ratio, price-to-book ratio, and three-year sales-per-share growth value, compared to the S&P SuperComposite 1500 Index. The Lipper Closed-End Growth & Income Funds Average measures the performance of closed-end funds that combine a growth-of-earnings orientation and an income requirement for level and/or rising dividends.

The S&P 500 Index measures the performance of 500 of the largest US companies based on market capitalizations.

Edgar Filing: TRI-CONTINENTAL CORP - Form N-30B-2

All or part of the security is held as collateral for options written. As of September 30, 2006, the value of securities held as collateral was $20,831,354.

ADR □ American Depositary Receipt.

Security Valuation □ Securities traded on an exchange are valued at the last sales price on the primary exchange or market on which they are traded. Fixed income securities not listed on an exchange or security market are valued by independent pricing services based on bid prices which consider such factors as coupons, maturities, credit ratings, liquidity, specific terms and features, and the US Treasury yield curve or are valued by J. & W. Seligman & Co. Incorporated (the "Manager") based on quotations provided by primary market makers in such securities. Equity securities not listed on an exchange or security market, or equity securities for which there is no last sales price, are valued at the mean of the most recent bid and asked prices or are valued by the Manager based on quotations provided by primary market makers in such securities. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available (or are otherwise no longer valid or reliable) are valued at fair value determined in accordance with procedures approved by the Board of Directors. This can occur in the event of, among other things, natural disasters, acts of terrorism, market disruptions, intra-day trading halts, and extreme market volatility. The determination of fair value involves subjective judgments. As a result, using fair value to price a security may result in a price materially different from the prices used by other mutual funds to determine net asset value or the price that may be realized upon the actual sale of the security. Short-term holdings maturing in more than 60 days are valued at current market quotations. Short-term holdings maturing in 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost.

Tri-Continental Corporation

Stockholder Services

Tri-Continental provides a number of services to make maintaining an investment in its Common Stock more convenient. Please consult Tri-Continental's prospectus for the terms and conditions of these services.

Automatic Dividend Investment and Cash Purchase Plan. Subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the prospectus, Stockholders may automatically purchase additional shares with dividends and capital gains. There is no charge for this service. Stockholders may also, subject to the terms and conditions of the prospectus, purchase additional shares directly from the Corporation. There is a service fee of a maximum of $2.00 for each cash purchase transaction.

Automatic Cash Withdrawal Plan. Stockholders who hold common shares with a market value of $5,000 or more may elect to receive a fixed amount from their investment at regular intervals by selling their shares to the Corporation.

Traditional Individual Retirement Account (IRA). Stockholders who have earned income and are under age 70½ may contribute up to $4,000 per year to a Traditional IRA for 2006. A working or non-working spouse may also contribute up to $4,000 to a separate Traditional IRA for 2006. Additionally, individuals who reach age 50 prior to the end of a taxable year may make "catch-up contributions" to a Traditional IRA of up to $1,000. Contributions to a Traditional IRA may be deductible or non-deductible. If you are single and not covered by an employer's retirement plan, your contribution will always be deductible. For individuals who are covered by a plan, contributions will be fully deductible if your modified adjusted gross income (MAGI) in 2006 is less than $50,000. For spouses who are both covered by a plan, contributions will be fully deductible if your MAGI is less than $75,000. If one spouse does not work or is not covered by a retirement plan, that spouse's contribution will be fully deductible provided your household MAGI does not exceed $150,000. If your contribution is not deductible, you may still take advantage of the tax-deferred accumulation of earnings in your Traditional IRA.

Rollover IRA. You may be eligible to roll over a distribution of assets received from another IRA, a qualified employee benefit plan, or tax-deferred annuity into a Rollover IRA with Tri-Continental. To avoid a tax penalty, the transfer to a Rollover IRA must occur within 60 days of receipt of the qualifying distribution. If you do not make a direct transfer of a distribution from a qualified employee benefit plan or a tax-deferred annuity to a Rollover IRA, the payor of the distribution must withhold 20% of the distribution.

Roth IRA. You (and a working or non-working spouse) may each make an after-tax contribution of up to $4,000 per year to a Roth IRA provided you have earned income and meet the eligibility requirements. Your MAGI must be less than $95,000 (individuals) or $150,000 (married couples) to be eligible to make a full contribution to a Roth IRA. You are eligible to make a partial Roth IRA contribution if your MAGI is below $110,000 (individuals) or $160,000 (married couples). Total combined contributions to a Roth IRA and a Traditional IRA cannot exceed $4,000 in any year. Additionally, individuals who reach age 50 prior to the end of a taxable year may make "catch-up contributions" to either a Roth IRA or Traditional IRA of up to $1,000. Earnings grow tax-free and will be distributed to you tax-free and penalty-free provided that you hold your account for at least five years and you take the distribution either after age 59½, for disability, upon death, or to make a first-time home purchase (up to $10,000). Unlike a Traditional IRA, you may contribute to a Roth

IRA even if you are over age 70½ (if you have earned income), and you are not required to take minimum distributions at age 70½. You may convert an existing Traditional IRA to a Roth IRA to take advantage of tax-free distributions. You must pay taxes on any earnings and deductible contributions in your Traditional IRA when converting it to a Roth IRA. Talk to your financial advisor for more details on converting your Traditional IRA.

Retirement Planning □ Qualified Plans Unincorporated businesses and the self-employed may take advantage of the same benefits in their retirement plans that are available to corporations. Contribution levels can go as high as 100% of earned income (reduced by plan contributions), to a maximum of $44,000 per participant. For retirement plan purposes, no more than $220,000 may be taken into account as earned income under the plan in 2006. Social Security integration and employee vesting schedules are also available as options in the Tri-Continental prototype retirement plans. Although you already may be participating in an employer's retirement plan, you may be eligible to establish another plan based upon income from other sources, such as director's fees.

Retirement Plan Services provides information about our prototype retirement plans. The toll-free telephone number is (800) 445-1777 in the US and (212) 682-7600 outside the US.

Gifts Free of Federal Tax are often made using Tri-Continental Common Stock. You may give as much as $12,000 a year to as many individuals as desired free of federal gift tax, and a married couple may give up to $24,000 a year.

Stock Repurchase Program. On November 17, 2005, the Board of Directors authorized the renewal of Tri-Continental's ongoing share repurchase program. The program authorizes the Corporation to repurchase up to 5% of the Corporation's shares during the period from January 1, 2006 through December 31, 2006, provided that the discount of a share's market price to its net asset value (□NAV□) remains greater than 10%. The stock repurchase plan seeks, among other things, to moderate the growth in the number of shares outstanding, increase the net asset value of outstanding shares, increase the liquidity of Tri-Continental's common stock, and reduce the dilutive impact on Stockholders who do not take capital gains distributions, when such distributions are made, in additional shares.

Between January 1, 2006 and September 30, 2006, 3.9 million shares were repurchased. This is approximately 3.6% of the shares outstanding at the beginning of the period. The repurchase of additional shares is expected to continue through December 31, 2006, as long as the discount remains above 10%.

On November 16, 2006, the Board of Directors voted to renew Tri-Continental's stock repurchase program. The program allows the Corporation to repurchase up to 5% of its common stock in the open market from January 1, 2007 through December 31, 2007, as long as its discount to NAV exceeds 10%.
