Dell Inc. could not file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the fiscal quarter ended April 30, 2010 (the Form 10-Q) without unreasonable effort or expense by the due date of June 9, 2010 as a result of recent developments in the previously reported investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC investigation). The information in Part III of this form is incorporated in this Part IV by reference. Dell previously reported financial results for its fiscal quarter ended April 30, 2010 in a press release (the earnings release) furnished as Exhibit 99.1 to its Current Report on Form 8-K filed with the SEC on May 20, 2010. Those preliminary results reflected revenue of $14.9 billion, operating income of $619 million, net income of $441 million and earnings per share of approximately $0.22. For the corresponding prior year period, Dell reported revenue of $12.3 billion, operating income of $414 million, net income of $290 million and earnings per share of approximately $0.15.

As a result of ongoing discussions with the SEC staff, Dell has revised the financial results that were reported in the earnings release to record a $100 million liability for the potential settlement of the SEC investigation. As a result of the liability recorded, Dell's operating income for the fiscal quarter ended April 30, 2010 has been reduced by $100 million from the amount previously reported in the earnings release to $519 million, Dell's net income has been reduced by $100 million from the amount previously reported in the earnings release to $341 million, and Dell's earnings per share have been reduced by $0.05 from the amount previously reported in the earnings release to $0.17.
