ORACLE TO LAUNCH CASH TENDER OFFER FOR PEOPLESOFT FOR $16 PER SHARE

Oracle Q4 preliminary earnings of 14 to 15 cents per share

Redwood Shores, Calif., June 6, 2003 Today, Oracle Corporation announced that it will commence a cash tender offer to purchase all of the outstanding shares of PeopleSoft, Inc. (Nasdaq: PSFT) for $16 per share, or approximately $5.1 billion. Separately, Oracle announced that it will meet or exceed consensus earnings estimates for the fiscal fourth quarter.

The acquisition of PeopleSoft will immediately make Oracle an even more profitable and competitive company, said Oracle's Chairman and CEO, Larry Ellison. Although we will not be actively selling PeopleSoft products to new customers, we will provide enhanced support for all PeopleSoft products. Furthermore, we will be incorporating the advanced features from the PeopleSoft products into future versions of the Oracle eBusiness Suite.

Jeff Henley, Oracle Executive Vice President and CFO, said, "Given PeopleSoft's current prospects and plans, we believe our offer presents compelling value to PeopleSoft shareholders. In addition, we expect that the acquisition of PeopleSoft will increase Oracle's earnings per share from the first combined quarter. We expect there to be substantial cost savings and minimal business integration risk.

In connection with announcing the tender offer, Mr. Ellison has submitted a letter to PeopleSoft's Board of Directors in which he expressed a desire to discuss the offer with the Board.

The tender offer will be subject to customary conditions, including expiration of the applicable Hart-Scott-Rodino waiting period, a majority of PeopleSoft's shares on a fully diluted basis being tendered and not withdrawn, and the redemption or amendment of PeopleSoft's shareholder rights plan. The offer will not be subject to due diligence or financing. Oracle expects to commence the tender offer on Monday, June 9, 2003. Credit Suisse First Boston LLC has provided a bridge financing facility and is advising Oracle on the transaction.

PeopleSoft has recently signed a merger agreement with J.D. Edwards & Company that is subject to several conditions and is not scheduled to be completed until this fall. Once Oracle's acquisition of PeopleSoft is complete, it will review whether, and on what terms, Oracle would support that transaction.

In addition, Oracle Corporation announced that, based on preliminary results, the company expects to report fiscal fourth quarter GAAP earnings per share of $0.14 to $0.15. Oracle will provide more detail on its quarterly results on the regularly scheduled earnings conference call on June 17, 2003.

Oracle will host a conference call today, June 6, 2003, at 5:30 a.m. PDT/8:30 a.m. EDT to discuss the acquisition. A live audio webcast of the call will be made available on the Oracle Investor Relations website at www.oracle.com/investor. The webcast will be available for replay for seven days following the conference call. Interested parties may also participate live via telephone by calling (719) 457-2649. The replay number is (719) 457-0820 (Passcode: 684742), and will be available for 24 hours following the conference call.

Safe Harbor Statement Under the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995: Information in this release relating to Oracle's future prospects which are forward-looking statements are subject to certain risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially, including, but not necessarily limited to, the following: (1) We cannot provide assurance that the offer described in this release will be successfully completed or that we will realize the anticipated benefits of the transaction. (2) Economic, political and market conditions could continue to adversely affect purchasing decisions for computer software and services throughout the world. The war on terrorism and the potential for war or other hostilities in other parts of the world add to the climate of uncertainty that could adversely affect revenues. Delays in closing of sales, reductions in size of individual sales without an offsetting increase in volume or delays in product delivery can cause quarterly revenues and income to fall significantly short of anticipated levels. (3) Management's ability to forecast revenues and control expenses, especially on a quarterly basis, continues to be a challenge. An unexpected decline in revenues without a corresponding and timely slowdown in expense growth could have a material adverse effect on results of operations (4) Oracle is introducing new or revised versions of its products and services, such as Oracle 9i Database, Oracle 9iAS Application Server, E-Business Suite, Oracle Collaboration Suite and Outsourcing; the market acceptance and contribution to Oracle's revenues of these new versions or products and services cannot be assured. (5) Oracle has made changes to its pricing model and sales organization, which could lead to a decline or delay in sales as its sales force and customers adjust to the new pricing policies and organizational changes. Intense competition in the various markets in which Oracle competes may also put pressure on Oracle to reduce prices on certain products. (6) The market for Oracle's products is intensely competitive and is characterized by rapid technological advances and frequent new product introductions. There can be no assurances that Oracle will continue to introduce new products and new versions of existing products that keep pace with technological developments, satisfy increasingly sophisticated customer requirements and achieve market acceptance. Oracle undertakes no obligation to update information contained in this release.
